

NEW PRODUCT RELEASE INFORMATION for PAIM

Product Title & Stock Number: Little Offertories for Little Churches, 2700070

Product Author: Jayne Nitz

Interesting Facts about Author: Jayne published a communion choral anthem with NPH in 2010. This is her first keyboard collection. She has also collaborated with WELS recording artist Chris Driesbach. She lives in MI.

Product Editor: JSB

Summary of Product: Flexible keyboard settings of hymn tunes. Title can be a bit misleading: while catchy, these can be used beyond offertory (pre-service, post-service, during distribution, etc.) and they're not necessarily only for small churches (anyone could use them). But they were designed with offertory and limited musical resources/skill in mind. Each piece has optional cuts/repeats to vary the length (as the time necessary to gather the offering varies from Sunday to Sunday and church to church). Some pieces are very much designed for piano, where others could be played on organ (manuals-only) as well. A few include instrumental parts; these are available for free download on the web site product page.

Key Benefits/Features of Product: for easy to medium-easy players, flexibility and wide application of use, instrumental parts for a few titles, accessibility.

Different Uses for Product, including Anticipated Market: offertories, pre-service, post-service, distribution. Anticipated market is all worship accompanists.
